

SENATOR DUBOIS TALKS.
He Will Attend the Cleveland
Republican League Convention.

THE MEMPHIS CONVENTION.

An American Citizen Imprisoned in Germany.

There is no longer any doubt as to the arrest of James Heney, charged with being implicated in the robbery of the Carson mint. The false notes issued from the Carson Tribune office and echoed by the Republican press of the State, deceived only those who made the noise. There was no known reason why the Federal officials should not want to arrest Heney and the only inference which intelligent people could draw from the wails of the Tribune was that they were false to their oaths and for a consideration were willing to let Heney escape. Why should the United States District Attorney, Marshal and Mint officials desire to have Heney get out of the country? The gold which he had melted into bars, and which was disposed of on his account and the proceeds paid him, was stolen from the mint under a Republican administration. He left the mint before the present officials assumed charge of that institution; consequently the present officials had nothing to fear from him, while his partners, against whom there was no positive evidence, could well afford to expend a part of the proceeds of the steal in assisting him to evade the officers. Nevertheless, Republican papers endeavored to create the impression that his partners were anxious to have him brought back and that the Government officials were not. Possibly they convinced some of their readers that they were right, as the reasoning powers of those who believe in the "artificial theory, that the way to renounce silver, is to vote for a party that is opposed to it, cannot be of a very high order.

Heney's return, with an understanding that he will give the names of his partners and disclose the manner in which business was transacted at the United States Mint, under Republican rule, must have an exhilarating effect on those who shared in the profits. Their exuberance of spirit is doubtless so great that the State will hardly contain them, if they can get out of it. The $75,000 ascertained to have been stolen from the mint, is, if rumors are not wholly unfounded, only a small part of the profits of the partnership. It may be shown how thousands of silver dollars, and brand new ones too, found their way into the State Treasury in place of the money actually paid by the taxpayers and sent by the several county Treasurers to the State Treasurer.

Very much information of interest to the public may result from the arrest of Mr. Heney. He will doubtless give the names of his partners and other arrests may be made immediately upon his arrival at the Capital. Heney was simply a helper at the mint and his partners must have held higher positions to cover up the transactions of the firm. They may know more about mint affairs than he and as somebody expressed it, cause a social if not a political revolution at the Capital by loosening their tongues.

The honor and honesty of the Capital City and of the State at large, are involved in this mint shortage. It has gone abroad that a majority of the people are thieves, and that the mint should be closed unless persons were sent here from other States to conduct its operations. The honest people of Carson must, therefore, rejoice that there is now an opportunity to distinguish them from the thieves and they should assist the Government officials by every means in their power to bring the guilty to justice, regardless of their political affiliations or social standing.

"THE STRADDLE BUG."

The men who are advocating the cause of silver find that the straddle bug is more dangerous than the gold bug. The gold bug proclaims himself to be what he is. He is an open enemy of silver and does not deny it. The straddle bug is much more pestiferous as he is not what he seems to be, and while pretending to favor free coinage does all that he can against it. Congressman Sibley while on this coast found the straddle bug in various places, so he is not confined exclusively to Nevada. In one of his speeches Sibley said the straddle bug is the most dangerous of all the bugs. As he relies on international bimetalism he is the man to be afraid of and he appealed to his hearers to beware of him.

There are, or were last Fall, something over two thousand straddle bugs in Nevada. Since then many of them have got off the fence and are no longer straddlers. A few, however, of the boss bugs are still on the top rail and will declare for silver if the "party" favors it and for gold if the "party" so decrees.

The essential points for the financial discussion between W. H. Harvey, the author of "Coin's Financial School," and R. G. Horr of the New York Tribune, have been agreed upon. The time is not definitely set, but the contest will begin about July 10th. A chapter of "Coin's Financial School" will be discussed at each session. There will be no speeches, but the contestants will face each other sitting, and when one affirms a proposition the other will question him, all to be taken down by a stenographer and published daily in the papers afterwards put in book form for general distribution.

TRouble IN THE REPUBLICAN
CAMP.

Senator Dubois Will Read the Riot Act
at Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—"I shall go to the Republican League Convention at Cleveland," said Senator Dubois of Idaho, to a reporter, "and read the riot act."

In this single sentence is contained an intimation that the coming convention in Cleveland is to be an interesting gathering. As is well known, it is to be an assemblage of Republicans from all parts of the country, and it has more than usual importance, because the platform it will adopt will, in some measure at least, sound the keynote of the National Convention next year. Consequently, both silver and gold men in the party will try to capture a majority of the delegates.

The silver men mean business. It is now the intention of Senator Dubois to tell the Republican delegates very plainly that if the party doesn't go something in the way of an absolute and unequivocal recognition of silver it will be useless to expect the present Western Republican States to remain in line.

"It would be hardly worth while for us to go into the campaign," said the Senator, "if the National Republican Convention does not declare for the free and equal coinage of silver and gold. Eastern Republicans might as well understand this right now."

"I have always found that it pays to speak frankly, and then if the rest of your people want to come where you stand they can do so, but if they do not listen to your warning you are not to blame. That is the way I feel about it, and I am inclined to speak very frankly to my Republican friends at Cleveland."

"If we are not careful the Democrats will sweep the country at the next election. If the Democrats declare for free coinage they will gain five Republican votes for every Democrat they lose. We do not care what kind of a platform is adopted, but we want a man who will sign a free coinage bill if it is sent to him. We have been having the platform and the other fellows have been having the candidates long enough. The time has come when we want the man."

"And who is the man?"
"Senator Cameron of Pennsylvania. He is our candidate."
"How about Allison?"
Senator Dubois laughed. "We want," said he, "a man who will not straddle or temporize, but one of whose position there can be no possible doubt. Mr. Allison, I can assure you, will get no support from us."

GERMAN DESPOTISM.

Imprisoning American Citizens Alleged to be Liable to Military Service.

PATTERSON, N. J. June 10.—Herman Fick of Patterson, a naturalized citizen of the United States, has been confined five months under military charge in the village of Kohlen bei Ringstedt in Germany. The cause alleged for his imprisonment is his liability to service in the army of the country, but as he is provided with passports from the Department of State and is moreover much under the height required for recruits, it is thought that there are other reasons. Just before his illness began Secretary Gresham received some startling information concerning the continued imprisonment of American citizens in Germany, and although his illness prevented immediate action, the Department has now taken hold of it vigorously.

Cavalry Practice March.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—General Wesley Merritt, commanding the Department of the Missouri, in compliance with instructions from headquarters of the army, approved by the Secretary of War, has ordered troops B and K, Seventh Cavalry, and Light Battery E, First Artillery, to make a practice march from Fort Sheridan, Illinois, to Camp Douglas, Wisconsin, arranging their march to arrive at Camp Douglas so as to encamp with the three mounted troops of the National Guard of Wisconsin at that place the week commencing July 21, 1895. The troops will then march back to Fort Sheridan.

Massacre of Missionaries.

New York, June 10.—Officials of the Methodist Missionary Society of this city are hopeful that the report of the massacre of missionaries at Cheng Tu has been exaggerated. Dr. Stephen J. Baldwin, Recording Secretary, said: "I do not think that the rumors are subsequent to the assurance we received by cable from our mission in Cheng Tu, under date of June 3d. The cable reads: 'Property destroyed; all safe. Inform Toronto.'

Grasshoppers Destroying Crops.

SACRAMENTO, June 10.—Word was received this morning that locusts, or grasshoppers, as they are commonly called, had appeared in portions of Sutter and Placer counties in countless numbers, and were doing great damage to all kinds of vegetation. J. M. Jasper of Wheatland telephones as follows: "Millions of grasshoppers are coming in and they are eating up everything that is green. They are particularly destructive to vineyards and orchards."

The Memphis Convention.

ATLANTA, June 10.—Senator Vest, Senator Isham G. Harris, W. J. Bryan Nebraska, J. S. O. Blackburn of Kentucky, John Allen of Mississippi, and Senator Daniel of Virginia and A. R. Walthall of Mississippi will speak at the Memphis Bimetallic Convention June 12th and 13th.

BRITANNIA.

Church and Sheppard are making the St. Elmo a popular resort.

Seventy-five teams are hauling freight from Milford, on the Utah Southern Railroad, to DeLamar, Lincoln county, which, the Pioche Record says, is a lively camp.

Mrs. W. R. Randall arrived from Carson Sunday evening and is visiting her sister, Mrs. James Kerr, for a few days before going to Oregon where she will permanently reside.

E. S. Eds and B. A. Cooper have ordered one of the best threshing machines made and a traction engine to run it, so that they will have steam up when they arrive at a grain stack.

The New York Herald says those who could not endure the Democratic tiger are now tired of the Republican hyena. They think if they must have a "boss" that Croker is preferable to Platt.

Holcomb & Grob will start their cold blast peddling wagon into the country Wednesday. They have the best of best mutton and lamb and will supply the farmers in any quantity.

W. G. C. Pitt, Manager of The Pioche Record, San Francisco, says: "I have used Park's Tea in my family for some time. It has no equal for liver trouble or biliousness." Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson.

Maurice Loney and wife of Carson were passengers for San Francisco last evening. The former is very ill and is going to the city to consult Dr. Lane. He had to be carried from one train to the other.

Thos. Barnett arrived from San Francisco Sunday and reports the marriage of Chas. A. Thurston to Miss Emma Bull formerly of Reno. The young couple were married two or three weeks ago.

From 1780 to 1874 there never was but one year when an ounce of gold would purchase sixteen ounces of silver, and these conditions would not be changed today were it not for the demonetization of silver in 1873.

The Reno Borax Company has shipped 120 tons of borax this season from their works at Buffalo, in the northwestern part of the county. The borax is hauled by teams to Humboldt House and shipped East by rail from that point.

B. A. Cooper says the fruit suffered severely down his way. The frost seems to have run in streaks and in places the fruit was nearly all killed. Wheat and alfalfa, however, never looked better in that section of the meadows.

Salt Lake parties are buying cattle of Lincoln county stockmen. A large herd will be delivered at Milford on or about the 16th inst. This will make about 5,600 head of cattle taken from that section of the State in the past three months.

Mrs. Mary Atchison Griffin, a member of the Board of Visitors to the State University left for her home at Hawthorne, yesterday. Mrs. Griffin is a daughter of Sam Atchison and a niece of Uncle John Atchison, well known pioneers of Nevada.

Susan B. Anthony, who has just returned from the Yosemite Valley to Sacramento, denies the report telegraphed from the east to the effect that she has resigned the Presidency of the National Suffrage League. She says she has not resigned and does not intend to do so.

The E. H. Parsons Land and Cattle Company has purchased 3,100 head of cattle from the cattle men of White Pine, Nye and Lincoln counties, says the DeLamar Leader. The average price paid for the herd delivered at Murray Creek was $10 per head. The cattle were driven to American Falls, Idaho.

The Carson Tribune is said to have crawled into a hole and pulled the hole in after it when it learned that the United States officers had Heney in charge. There are others in Carson who are said to be hunting holes, as they fear the officers have learned a good deal about mint affairs in the last two or three days.

HENRY ARRIVES.

The Prisoner Met at the Depot Platform by a Large Crowd.

It became whispered about town yesterday afternoon and evening that it was probable that James Heney would arrive from the east on the evening train. In consequence of the report a large crowd had gathered at the depot and as soon as the train pulled in every one was on the qui vive to get a glimpse of the prisoner. He soon appeared at the door of one of the sleepers, preceded by Marshal Humphreys, and upon stepping on the platform was greeted by a number of Virginia and Carson people who were present. He was then received by his wife and his attorney, Wm. Woodburn, who stood near at hand. The meeting of Heney and his wife was affectionate but not demonstrative. Several of the old employees of the mint were present and shook hands with him and he remarked, "Well, there are lots of you boys here."

The prisoner said that he had never felt better in his life and laughed and conversed good-humoredly with all. He and his wife and Attorney Woodburn retired to the Palace Hotel. He declined to converse on anything concerning his case, save that he was fully satisfied of his acquittal, and that he could tell where and how he had procured every particle of the bullion he had handled when the time came for him to tell it. His demeanor showed great confidence, or else he was assuming a manner that he had practiced for the occasion.

At about half-past nine o'clock he left here for Carson by private conveyance, accompanied by his wife and Deputy U. S. Marshal Dennis.

The reporter called upon U. S. Marshal Humphreys, who kindly gave the following information:

Mr. Humphreys said that late last week he received a telegram from Heney at Leadville that he was there and was ready to surrender. The Marshal left for Denver immediately and went from there to Leadville where he met Heney who surrendered to him. Heney realized that he was being tracked and he had gone to a small place at a distance from Leadville called Kokomo. The detectives had followed him there and one evening he was run to earth in the cabin of a friend and was surrounded, but he eluded the Hawkshaws, slipping out a back door and taking to the hills and walked forty-four miles to Leadville with nothing to eat except four cloves he happened to have in his pocket. Arriving at Leadville he was among friends, having formerly worked there, and claims that he could have eluded the officers for six months and not remained in any one house any length of time. It was then that he concluded to wire Marshal Humphreys and did so with the result above stated.

Marshal Humphreys stated that the prisoner would not talk about his case. Heney will doubtless be governed by the advice of his attorney and it is not probable that much can be gotten out of him at present. It was quite evident from the confidence he showed and from hints now and then dropped that he has a story which, when told, will shake matters up considerably. He says he will face the music and if convicted will take his medicine. As far as bondmen are concerned, he thinks he can procure a reasonable bond but will not beg any one to go on it.

Marshal Humphreys met the Marshal of Colorado and arranged everything satisfactory with him regarding the transfer of Heney to this State, the prisoner being willing to accompany Mr. Humphreys. Heney is at last in the clutches of the law, and last night in the presence of those gathered around him on the platform he stated to his wife and Mr. Woodburn, that Marshal Humphreys had treated him with every courtesy and consideration, and he was very grateful to him.

Notwithstanding much has been said about the officers not taking the proper steps to apprehend Heney, no doubt they were doing what they believed to be best in the matter, and have succeeded in finally carrying out their program. Mr. Humphreys went to Leadville at his own expense, not knowing but what a trick was being played upon him, but as it turned out it was all right. He took the chances of loss to himself, however, to perform his official duty.

THE FATE OF A FORTUNE.

It depends upon whether Professor Whiting or his wife died first, on the Steamer Collins.

The fate of an estate valued at $100,000 is likely to rest on whether Professor Harold Whiting, of the University of California, who was lost on the Colima, died before or after his wife, who was drowned on the same voyage.

Just before Professor Whiting started on his fatal voyage he made two wills. One was to the effect that, if he should be drowned his estate should go to the surviving members of his family. The other was that in case he and his wife and children were all drowned, his estate should revert to members of his family living in the East. If Professor Whiting died first, his wife and children immediately became his heirs. But if Mrs. Whiting died later, her heirs would inherit a small fortune, to the exclusion of the heirs of Professor Whiting in the East.

The Pine Nut Skeleton.

A skeleton of a man was found at Pine Nut Valley recently, and many guesses have been made as to who the person was. It is thought by some people that the remains are those of a convict named Jones who escaped from the Nevada State prison in the great break of 1871. It will be remembered that several escaped convicts killed young Poor, a mail carrier between Carson City and Aurora. Jones was one of the murderers. The murder was committed while other convicts of the party were away digging potatoes, and when they returned to the place where they were camped and learned of the murder Burke, one of the party who had been digging potatoes, had a quarrel with Jones over the murder, but peace between them was finally declared. A few days after the murder Burke and Jones separated from the other convicts and went off together on a foraging expedition. Burke returned alone and Jones has never been heard of since. Burke was captured and returned to prison and admitted that Jones was dead, but nothing more would he tell. It has always been supposed that the two convicts renewed their quarrel and that Burke killed Jones. Perhaps the skeleton found at Pine Nut is all that is left of Convict Jones.

VAUGHAN FOUND GUILTY.

A Verdict of Murder in the First Degree.

A dispatch from Austin to the JOURNAL says that the jury in the case of Alfred Vaughan, indicted for the murder of the Litster boys in Lander county, found the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree on the first ballot.

The trial has been a most remarkable one. Vaughan was convicted months ago of murder. His lawyers appealed to the Supreme Court and he was granted a new trial. An effort was made to change the venue to another county. This was resisted by District Attorney Jones of Lander county and his objections were sustained by Judge Mack, who presided at the trial at Austin. A jury was impaneled to try the case and as the trial progressed it was ascertained that one of the jurors declared that while he believed Vaughan guilty he would vote to acquit him as he was opposed to capital punishment. Judge Mack investigated the charge, dismissed the juror from the panel and held him to answer for perjury. A venire was issued and another sworn in to try the case, with the result stated.

Of course the case will again be appealed to the Supreme Court and as the District Court had to pass upon a great many puzzling legal points during the trial, if an error was made in any particular another trial will be the result.

HENRY COMING BACK.

U. S. Marshal Humphreys has him in Charge.

When the Republican press of the State, especially the Carson Tribune, was asserting that the Government officials did not want James Heney arrested for stealing bullion from the Carson Mint while that institution was under Republican rule, the Government officials had Heney at bay in Colorado and arrived last evening in charge of United States Marshal Humphreys. Heney was arrested at Leadville, Colorado. He found that he was surrounded and gave himself up. He said he was tired of dodging around in the mountains, and he was worrying about his wife in Carson. He gave himself up to Marshal Humphreys without any conditions being specified.

When asked about the Carson Mint shortage he said when his trial comes he can clear himself. He has been suffering from the sins of other people, as will be shown at the trial. He admits that $23,000 of gold bullion which passed through his hands was stolen. There is no doubt that a part of Heney's bargain is to turn State's evidence though the officers will not admit that. He doubtless knows all about the $75,000 shortage and will probably tell as he says he has been suffering from the sins of others.

The Grand Chapter R. A. M. of Nevada met yesterday in Masonic Hall at 12 o'clock. Grand High Priest R. H. Kinney called the Grand Chapter to order. The following Grand Officers were present: Treasurer Coffin, Deputy Grand H. P.; J. A. Burlingame, Grand King; Wm. Dunn, Grand Scribe; C. N. Noteware, Grand Secretary; Enoch Strother, Grand Treasurer; George C. Bryson, Grand Captain of the Host; Sam Dowling, Grand Royal Arch Captain; L. L. Crockett, Grand Obaplain.

Eight of the nine Subordinate Chapters in the State were represented. Among the delegates were: William McWilliam, Dr. J. C. Hazlett, Governor J. E. Jones, Albert Lackey and P. A. Doyle.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this remedy for coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.

INDIAN CHILDREN.
How the Little Kiowa Boys and Girls Amuse Themselves With Games.
If my little readers and listeners could visit "the Rainy Mountain school" for Indians at playtime, they would see games quite unlike those seen at their own homes and schools, yet in part like them. A group of girls would be playing "go-mat-ton," or ball with a stick. The stick is about 3 feet long, one end being turned up about six inches. They get a stick with a joint. With this joint they strike the ball, rolling it along the ground to the next girl, who gives it a blow and sends it on, and so on until it has gone around; then they repeat. If the ball passes a girl, she cannot strike it till the next round.
Another group may be seen playing "pa-aw-topx." This is their favorite game. Wherever you see Kiowa girls, you will see them at this game. It is a ball game too. The ball is about two-thirds as large as a rubber football. It is made of old cloth and covered with cloth; hence it is soft.
"Pa-aw-topx" is simply throwing the ball up and striking it as it comes down with the top of the foot. Sometimes they hit the ball a dozen times without failing.
The small girls throw stones up as we play "jacks." They will sit for an hour by a stone pile playing.
The boys throw marbles, jump and play with bows and arrows. The small boys throw the arrows; the large ones shoot them from the bows.
When they enter school, they come dressed in camp clothes, but these are soon changed for English clothes. When the girls have to stay indoors, they amuse themselves by making dolls. They always make a cradle for their dolls such as their mothers wear on their backs. They are very clever in making puppets, cradles and dolls.—Mary J. Hand in Atlanta Constitution.

Little Alice's Good Night.
Little Alice never liked to go to bed. She made many excuses for this dislike. One night she was fussing a little as usual. "Oh, mamma," she said, "I feel so lonesome!"
"Suppose," said mamma, "you think about the pretty, bright stars. They are shining so brightly. There is one almost opposite your window, just over the roof of papa's office."
"Let me see," cried Alice, running to the window. "Mamma, I am going to choose that brightest one for my own."
"Very well, dear," said mamma.
Every night after this for some years before jumping into her little bed Alice went to the window, lifted the curtain and bade one star good night. She had a verse she used to say:
Good night, little star.
I go to my bed.
I leave you to shine
While I lay down my head
On my pillow to rest
Until morning light
When you will be fading
And I shall be bright.

If the nights were cloudy and Alice could not see any star, she said the verse just the same, for she thought the stars were shining somewhere behind the clouds. After this she said no more about being lonesome, but went happily to bed.—Youth's Companion.

The Clock's Face.
One of the questions that the sharp-eyed boy or girl is sure to ask is, Why isn't the hour of 4 on a clock's face put IV instead of four ones, thus, IIII? The reason for it is said to be that away back in the time of Charles V of France, who reigned in the latter half of the fourteenth century, when the first clock was made, its maker, Henry Vick, was commanded to bring it before the king. He did so, and the king was very well pleased with it, watching the works with much interest. But he said finally, "You have got the figures on the dial wrong."
"I think not, your majesty," replied the clockmaker.
"Yes. That four should be four ones." "Surely not, your majesty," urged the man again.
"Yes, it should be four ones," insisted the king.
"You are wrong," once more said Vick, which made the king very angry. "I am never wrong," he cried. "Take it away and correct the mistake." The poor clockmaker could only obey, and the blunder of the king has come all the way down to us, for all clocks have been so marked ever since.

A Tender Hearted Arab.
Said Ali Ben Hassan, a kind hearted man: "I'll treat my poor camel as well as I can."
"To temper the heat I will shade the poor fellow with my second best, apple green cotton umbrella."
"With a pair of blue goggles I'll shield his poor eyes from the glare of the sun, and I'll keep off the flies."
"And cool him at times with my big palm leaf fan."
Said Ali Ben Hassan, a kind hearted man.—Frederick B. Opper in St. Nicholas.

His Pupil.
A teacher requested her pupils to bring in three items of information about the neighboring river that they could prove to be facts, and one little fellow contributed the following: "I have lived near it. I have sailed over it. I have fallen into it."—New York Tribune.
